The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dissolves it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

TAXES MENACE TO PROSPERITY

Judge Lovett Says Business Improving, But Very Slowly

SALT LAKE, March 29.—Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the board of directors of the Union Pacific system, with headquarters in New York, arrived in Salt Lake yesterday after spending most of the winter in Los Angeles.

Judge Lovett voiced his opinion that business was improving generally, but he declared the improvement very slow.

"The greatest danger upon business revival and the greatest menace to the return of prosperity in this country is taxation," he said.

"There will not be much building while money and general conditions are as they are," said Judge Lovett. "There is no inducement now for investment and many are investing simply because they have pride in their work and not because they can hope to profit."

"Business generally throughout the country is, I believe, improving, but as reflected by railroad traffic, the rate of improvement is very slow. I believe, however, that it will be practically continuous, though certainly without any boom, at least until crops are made and moved."

"The greatest danger upon business revival and the greatest menace to the return of prosperity in this country is taxation. I am sure people generally do not realize the seriousness of this aspect of the situation. Business is carried on for profit; men undertake new enterprises, employ labor and take the risks for profit; it is largely the surplus wealth of the rich, invested in enterprises carried on by others that affords most employment for labor outside of agriculture."

SURTAXES DISASTROUS.

"Income surtaxes which take half of the profit a man makes, while leaving him to suffer the loss alone, has taken the heart out of many of the men who have hitherto created the country's business. A man generally risks his whole fortune when he engages in business and therefore he has had a notion that he is entitled to most of the profit. Younger men who have hoped by great energy, new enterprise and initiative to accumulate a fortune see that possibility dwindling as excessive surtaxes become a fixed policy of the government."

"Then, too, the processes of common sense seem to be reversed in our basis of taxation. Instead of a premium on enterprise and industry, a lower tax on earned than invested income, just the opposite is the law. A salary or a profit made by personal effort is taxed the maximum rate, under the provision for surtaxes, while capital escapes the tax altogether by being invested in municipal securities."

"The result is not only a sense of injustice suffered and discouragement in the individual relying upon his own efforts, but an orgy of recklessness and extravagance in municipal expenditures and expenditures in general, to supply bonds for tax-exempt investment of capital."

GIVE UP FARMS.

"But that is not all, not by village, town, city, county and state with other extravagances which attend wasteful habits are increasing state and municipal taxation to an extent that is truly alarming. I read a press dispatch recently wherein one state's taxes had become so high that farmers in many localities could not afford to own their land and were literally forfeiting it."

"Railroads are feeling it even more heavily, and, of course, this means that it must ultimately be borne by the country's business. The total taxes paid by the Union Pacific system ten years ago—that is, for the year 1911—amounted to $4,180,098, while the taxes paid for 1921 were $12,536,072."

CITES BISMARCK.
"The country ought to take its bearings before some of its vital interests go on the rocks. How unfortunate is the delusion that we can make the rich pay all the taxes. I agree that taxes should be paid in proportion to the ability of the payers, but we have added to that principle a progressive ratio that is economically ruinous, and the danger is that we as a people will become very poor and economically weak and emaciated before we correctly diagnose our case and find out what is the matter with us. It is hard for those of us who haven't much to believe that we can suffer from gouging of a rich man by the government. We ought to ponder Bismarck's remark, that 'Socialism can make rich men poor, but it can never make a poor man rich.'"

SOLID DEADLOCK.
NEW YORK, March 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Casting aside as a "remote possibility" the prospect of settling their differences in time to avert the general strike set for three days hence, members of the anthracite sub-committee on wage contract negotiations today rided themselves for a long, hard struggle for the miners' 19 demands.

Nothing but a miracle—the immediate acceptance of each and every one of our demands—can avert the strike.

THEATRES

Last Time to See Norma Talmadge Today at the Orpheum

Tonight is your last opportunity to see Norma Talmadge's latest picture, "Love's Redemption," at the Orpheum theatre. And it is really one of Norma's best pictures, as it gives this talented star a wide scope to show her versatility as an actress. Her character as "Ginger," the island waif, is a delight, and later as the wife of an English lord, she shows how to wear pretty gowns as well as act. The picture is well worth seeing.

'The Birth of a Race' Is Now Showing at the Alhambra

It was an ambitious task the producers of "The Birth of a Race," which opened its engagement at the Alhambra today, set for themselves, but they succeeded with it and the result is a truly great photoplay.

The aim is to show the struggle of democracy throughout the ages, and its triumph in modern times. To do this, they divide their picture into two distinct parts. The first half is historical and dates back to the creation of the world. The second half is a modern American drama. The two parts are very different in treatment and effect, but each is excellent of its kind. Great credit should go to John W. Noble, the director of the production.

time old Fritz is victimized by a German agent who plays upon his love for the fatherland and with a presentation of a medal from the Kaiser, causes him to enter the Kaiser's service. Machinations of the German spies center around old Fritz Schmidt's mission plant. George, the younger son, is sturdily loyal and when America enters the war, his patriotic wife sends him forth to the fight with God-speed. Then the story follows George in France, where he distinguishes himself and returns home wounded. In the meantime the spies have been busy. Thereafter the action is replete with thrills and pathos. Some of the sub-titles are filled with good humor and there is many a laugh in the picture. The photography is the best ever seen here in a screen production. The cast is excellent in every respect.
